

OESH backlog calls and return of staff

As you are aware the Provincial Occupational Health COVID-19 Screening Line has installed a new phone system over the weekend, increased staffing and now has access to the lab results of healthcare workers going forward from April 9, 2020. However, we are still working through the backlog of messages from staff.

In order to expedite the return to work of asymptomatic staff who have received negative test results and to ensure staff who may have left a message do not get missed, we request that you submit the names, departments/site and contact numbers of those who may be waiting for a return to work call from Occupational Health. This will assist with the prioritization of these phone calls, re-screening and return to work. Managers will be notified by email of the results of the re-screening and return to work dates of their staff
