INTENSATI

WAKE UP YOUR INNER HERO

Pilates Manitoba would like to say thank you to healthcare workers with Free Weekly intenSati Classes

Welcome to your intenSati series. Inten means intention and Sati is the Pali word for mindfulness.

The experience of our life is based on how we speak about our life and for any area of our life in which we wish to create change, we must first identify our set-point. If we feel stuck on money or relationships, how do we view that area? What do we think or say is possible for us? The words we use and the attitude we hold around that life area determines our set point and it is our set point that determines our state of being and informs our current reality. So, if we want to create change, we must know what our starting point is and then begin the work to separate the emotional connection or story from the situation itself. And one of the easiest ways to separate the story from the situation is to find the good within the situation because it changes everything.

In this class you will find an invigorating cardio series that will allow you to let go of what you no longer wish to experience so you can choose the life you want to live. You will also find a soulful cool down designed to further help you let go, as well as a closing meditation that will help seal all this mindfulness work. Classes are all modified so that you can do it in a chair.

We offer these classes on Zoom and in person. Please text 204-999-9984 to join.
