Program Monitoring Update
January – December 2015

Healthy Public Policy (HPP) is one of Population and Public Health's strategic approaches in its programmatic strategic framework. Many services areas are already engaged in healthy public policy work, and are reported on within service area program monitoring reports.

A Healthy Public Policy working group was formed in July 2014. Through 2014 and 2015, background documents were produced articulating what Healthy Public Policy work is, and envisioned a direction forward. A logic model was completed in February 2015. A Healthy Public Policy Specialist was hired in December 2015 to support moving this work forward.
